Foreign Subs Seen Operating Off Australia

Spotting of Late-Model Craft Linked With Navy Building Plan

CANBERRA, Aug. 3 (Thursday) (Reuters).—Foreign submarines have been operating off the coast of Australia during the last few weeks, it was officially disclosed here today.

Some of the submarines were believed to have been identified by Australian authorities were maintaining strictest secrecy about the nationality of the foreign power concerned.

First reports of the presence of submarines were stated to have been given by fishermen operating off the North Coast of Australia.

It was believed that some of the submarines sighted included the most modern long-distance and high-speed types in the world.

Subsequent extensive sea and air searches led to the detection of a number of ocean-going submarines in other areas near the Australian coast.

Australian authorities were understood to have sought information from major world powers, but their inquiries had produced inconclusive results.

Australian authorities were said to consider that the submarines had been sent to the Pacific to test latest developments in underwater technique.

Reports of the presence of submarines were understood to have hastened the Federal Cabinet's decision yesterday to build six 2,000-ton anti-submarine frigates at a cost of $18,000,000.

Navy Minister Josiah Francis said that modernization and enlargement of the Royal Australian Navy anti-submarine force had been made necessary by the development of large submarines of high underwater speed and submersibility.

"Such submarines in the possession of an enemy in time of war would present a grave menace to our naval and merchant shipping," he said.

Unconfirmed reports said the Government was also considering construction of submarine pens at Jervis Bay on the New South Wales coast, capable of housing the most modern submarines in use.

Island Boy Drowned In Flume

COURTENAY, Aug. 2.—Nine-year-old Alan Watt, Bevan, drowned early Wednesday afternoon in the open flume carrying water from Comox Lake to Canadian Collieries (D.) Ltd., powerhouse.

The boy fell into the flume from a catwalk about four feet above the fast-flowing water.

His father, Robert Watt, who was with him at the time of the accident, had left him to try to save his dog which had fallen into the flume. When he turned around, the boy had disappeared and the father saw him floating downstream under his feet. Mr. Watt raced downstream and threw himself to the floor of the catwalk several times in a frantic effort to catch him as he went by, but he was unable to reach him.

Two Cumberland men, John Robertson and Norman Etherington finally dragged him out about a quarter of a mile away from the point where he had fallen in.

The Courtenay Inshore squad tried to resuscitate the boy, without success.

He is survived by his father and mother, two sisters and a brother.

May Intend New Plants For H-Bomb Production

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (INS).—The Atomic Energy Commission indicated tonight that it will go ahead with production of the hydrogen bomb without slackening its efforts in the assembly-line output of atomic bombs.

This was deduced from an A.E.C. announcement that the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company has been selected as contractor for the "design, construction and operation of new production facilities" on a 300,000-acre site "yet to be determined."

The A.E.C. said the Government will pay all costs of the project and that any patents growing out of Du Pont's work will become Federal property. The commission explained that the new facilities will provide materials for either military or peaceful use.

WITHHELD

The Du Pont Company was the builder and first operator of the Hanford, Wash., plutonium plant.

How U.S. Troops Are Deployed in Korea

This map locates various units of United States troops in their respective areas on the defense perimeter in South Korea, and also shows (broken line) the approximate defense line. Other units on the way to the front have moved from the supply port of Pusan.

No Decision On Troops By Cabinet

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (P).—The Cabinet met in a four-hour session today then adjourned until tomorrow without any announcement on its main agenda item—the possible recall of Parliament and dispatch of ground troops to Korea.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, emerging from the session at 8:30 p.m., E.D.T., said there would be no statement but that the Cabinet would meet again tomorrow at 3 p.m.

It was unusual that a regular Wednesday Cabinet sitting should be continued the following day. But observers pointed out it faced a heavy agenda, topped by Korea and whether or not Canada should follow Britain, Australia and New Zealand in dispatching ground troops to aid United Nations forces there.

There was no indication whether the discussion on Korea had been completed or whether it will be continued tomorrow.

The meeting was attended by ministers who would be directly concerned in any Korean decision, such as Defence Minister Cline and External Affairs Minister Pearson.

FURTHER CONTRIBUTIONS

The Government, which already has dispatched three destroyers and eight transport planes to the aid of United Nations forces in South Korea, is known to be now considering further contributions consistent with Canada's ability and home defence requirements.

Man Who Told of Success In Films Held for Fraud

VANCOUVER, Aug. 2 (P).—William Andrew Blackett, 36, who claims to be descended from an aristocratic British family and to have made $60,000 a year as an actor in Hollywood and London, was held here tonight on fraud charges.

Police said the Federal Bureau of Investigation is expected to enter the case shortly.

GIVEN REMAND

Blackett appeared in police court today on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and was remanded to Thursday.

Doors Remain Open For Railway Talks

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 (P).—Unions with 125,000 members today set August 22 as deadline for a strike to back up wage-hour demands on Canadian railways. But both sides left the door open for further talks which might prevent a railroad-crippling walkout.

The international brotherhoods announced their members "have voted almost unanimously to withdraw from the service if no satisfactory agreement is effected."

Almost immediately the railroads countered with a statement that they are willing to go $10,000,000 beyond the recommendations of conciliation boards.

In Ottawa, a Labor Department official said the Government is watching the dispute.

The dispute began a year ago when two big union groups including 15 international brotherhoods and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.B.R.E.) and the Brotherhood of Express Employees (B.E.E.) served their wage-hour demands on the carriers.

Both union groups said their negotiating committees will remain in session in Montreal.

Defenders Have No Time for Bridges

U.N. Forces Await Arrival of Marines

South Koreans Retake Town; U.S. Troops Consolidate

TOKIO, Aug. 3 (Thursday) (CP).—United Nations forces consolidated their Korean warfront today generally behind the Nakdong River to await the arrival of fresh United States marine and army reinforcements.

The withdrawal was general on the northern and western sides of the rectangular beachhead—with three notable exceptions:

In the Far South—Americans still held in front of the coastal plain that runs eastward to Pusan, the main supply port of the southeastern tip of the peninsula. Fighting raged 40 miles west of this all-important city.

In the Northeast—the South Korean Third Division recaptured Yongdok, eastern anchor of the northern line, in the major United Nations offensive action. American naval gunfire swept the way for the South Koreans who pressed on three miles beyond the shell-shattered town.

CLING TO POSITIONS

In the West—the United States 1st Cavalry Division clung to positions west of the Nakdong River after pulling out Wednesday night from Kumsong on the central front defending the communications centre of Taegu.

The 1st Cavalry was reported holding positions before Waegwan about 15 miles northwest of Taegu.

Allied aircraft, concentrating on close support of ground forces in the battle area west of Pusan, flew more than 400 sorties Wednesday. They reported 76 Communist vehicles, 29 railroad cars and six locomotives damaged. Superfortresses bombed nine bridges including the off-hit railroad bridge west from Seoul.

Latest front reports said army tanks and troops were engaged in bloody fighting after halting a powerful Korean Communist thrust 40 miles west of Pusan with a counter-attack. The Americans drove within three to five miles of Chinju before returning to their positions, an 8th Army communiqué said today.

PLANNED, ORDERLY

The general withdrawal—planned and orderly—began two days ago. Its aim apparently was to relieve the heavy pressure of ten red divisions, possibly 100,000 troops, until fresh units and newly arrived marine units can get into combat.

The communiqué said South

Communists Shown Too Close to Home

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 2 (P).—Please stop printing maps showing the Korean war lines of battle superimposed over this and nearby states for comparison, the letter to The Richmond News-Leader said.

"My best presser left without notice for three days to get his two sisters away from Enfield, N.C., as the map showed the Communists were only a few miles away."

(Signed) "J. W. WISEMAN."

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 2 (P).—Warren R. Austin, United States delegate to the United Nations, has rejected today any "deal" for a settlement of the Korean war.

Austin turned down for the second straight day in the Security Council a Russian move to link the question of Red China's entrance into the U.N. with the Korean war. He said the United States will never agree that the end of North Korean aggression depends on any other issue.

MOVE REJECTED

"So long as men are dying on the battlefield in defence of the United Nations," Austin said, "this council will not wish to cheapen their suffering or sully their heroism by seeming to engage in the consideration of deals."

Austin also rejected again a Soviet move intended to water down the council's previous decision that Communist-supported North Korea is the aggressor against the Republic of Korea, backed by the U.N.

Jakob A. Malik, council president for August, replied that Austin has put up a resolution calling for "localization of the conflict." He said that was diplomatic language that really meant to increase and expand the conflict, increase the munitions, and the flying fortresses.

ALL ELSE ASIDE

The council adjourned until 3 p.m. E.D.T. tomorrow without acting on its agenda. The Soviet Union is seeking to have the council take up the question of seating Communist China before going on to the Korean problem.

Austin joined five other delegates in demanding that the council put everything aside except the issue of aggression upon the Republic of Korea. Backing Austin were Su

Strike Threatens Shipping

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (P).—Threat of a strike that could tie up British Columbia's coastal passenger shipping loomed today.

Dick Deesley, business agent for the Seafarers' International Union, said a strike vote among deckhands and engine room employees of Canadian National, Canadian Pacific and Union Steamships will be taken within the next few days. Stewards on Union Steamships will also be polled.

The S.I.U. (A.F.L.) has been asking for improved wages and working conditions for its members working on coastal runs. Deesley said the union has rejected the majority decision of a conciliation board recommending holding over the demands until the time comes for the next revision of collective agreements.

Main proposals of the union are a $30 across-the-board monthly wage increase, a 40-cent hourly overtime pay hike, union security and time off for statutory holidays or overtime pay for work done on those days.

Lesser demands are for increased meal allowance money while employees are ashore and better living conditions on board ships.

The union agent said the S.I.U. had been negotiating the proposals for seven months and would wait no longer.

Results of the strike vote—involving some 1,000 employees—should be known by the middle of next week.

Agreement on Transfer Of B.C. Policing Signed

Agreement to have the Royal Canadian Mounted Police take over policing in British Columbia has been signed, it was learned authoritatively yesterday.

No details have been disclosed. Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer was in Vancouver yesterday and it is understood full scope of the agreement will not be made known until he returns to make a carefully prepared statement.

AWAITS DETAILS

British Columbia Police are anxiously awaiting details of the changeover. They have openly stated their belief that they will suffer financially because of lower pay schedules effective in the R.C.M.P. Many fear, also, that they may be sent to other parts of the Dominion, since under the new set-up they will become part of a national force.

Mr. Wismer, however, has reiterated that no one in the force will suffer.

The legislation authorizing the changeover, passed earlier this year, provided that any present members of the provincial force who could not be fitted into the new set-up could be transferred to other jobs. It's expected that there will be some such transfers to make way for the expected influx of a certain number of officers now in the R.C.M.P. Actual details of the change may come later this week.

U.S. Again Turns Down "Deal" for Korean Peace

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 2 (P).—Gladwyn Jebb of Britain, Jean Chauvel of France, Arne Sunde of Norway, Antonio Quesada of Ecuador and Alberto Alvarez of Cuba.

Sir Gladwyn told the Soviet deputy foreign minister that Korea and China are in the same part of the world but that is about as far as he could go in admitting a link to the two questions.

He said 82 of the 86 United Nations members are backing the council's efforts to end aggression in Korea and that question must have priority above all others.

Further Decrease Noted In Canada's Unemployed

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (C.P.)—Employment has hit an all-time high in an increasing number of industries, the Labor Department said today in reporting a further decline in the number of Canadians looking for jobs.

At July 13, there were 185,000 unemployed, compared with 190,000 in June, a decline of more than 21,000 from two weeks before.

The July 13 figure compares with a peak unemployment mark of 430,000 last April 6 and is 38,000 higher than the total of 145,000 seeking employment at mid-July last year. The department did not elaborate on its statement that employment had reached an all-time high in an increasing number of industries beyond saying that shortages of workers had developed in some. During the first half of July, skilled construction workers were becoming increasingly scarce and farm help was "not too plentiful in some areas."

"More summer cutting is being done in the logging industry this year and the demand for workers was greater than the supply both in Eastern Canada and on the West Coast," it said.

The decrease in unemployment was largest in Quebec, where the total fell from 63,500 to 55,000. In each of the other five main regions the drop was less than 3,000.

Newfoundland had 14,100 unemployed compared with 16,900 two weeks before; the Maritime region 20,800 against 23,600; Ontario, 45,500 against 48,300; Prairies, 26,500 against 28,300, and the Pacific region 22,300 against 25,100.

Unemployment by regions, with June 29 figures in brackets, includes: Pacific—New Westminster, 2,919 (3,743); Vancouver, 12,891 (14,005); Victoria, 2,058 (2,166); Prince George, 184 (238).

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2 (Reuters)—A motorboat with four Russians, including the naval attaché of the Soviet embassy, was spotted within waters banned to foreigners near Nynashamn, off Stockholm, last Sunday it was reported today.

The Russians were ordered to leave the forbidden zone, the Foreign Office said.

Honor Guard For Minister Will Be Naval

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—An R.C.M. detachment will form the guard of honor at the state funeral of Labor Minister Mitchell on Friday, it was decided today.

Unlike the recent funeral of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King, when members of the three armed services and the R.C.M.P. participated, the navy will be the sole guard. However, an R.C.M.P. band will participate.

The navy guard was chosen because of the minister's pride in having served with the Royal Navy in the Great War, when he is believed to have been the only Canadian to participate at Gallipoli in 1916.

Mr. Mitchell's body will lie in state in the Hall of Remembrance in the centre block of the Parliament Buildings Friday, from 10:30 a.m. until 2 p.m., while the caisson in the Peace Tower plays appropriate music at intervals.

At 2 p.m., the funeral procession will move off to St. Barnabas Anglican church. The rector, Rev. M. W. Browne, has returned from vacation to conduct the service.

Honorary pallbearers, at the request of Mr. Mitchell's family, will be Prime Minister St. Laurent and his Government colleagues, and a number of "close personal friends and associates" of the late minister. Interment will be in Beechwood Cemetery, Ottawa.

Leopold Urges Son's Backing

BRUSSELS, Aug. 2 (Reuters)—King Leopold of the Belgians tonight made a personal appeal to "all Belgians who consider that the monarchy is essential to the nation's unity" to rally round his 19-year-old son, Prince Baudouin.

While a threat of a new Cabinet crisis hung over Belgium as some of the King's staunchest supporters claimed he had been "betrayed," Leopold issued a message appealing for an end to disorders between his opponents and supporters.

It said: "The bill attributing royal powers to the crown prince is the only measure capable of restoring order, therefore it is important that everyone should abstain from demonstrations which can but aggravate trouble and division of the country."

Premier Jean Duvieusart, who played a leading part in bringing the king back from exile 11 days ago, has already talked of resigning, sources close to the government said today.

Visit to 10 Downing Street Concerns U.K. Defence Plan

LONDON, Aug. 2 (Reuters)—Ambassador Lewis Douglas made a late and unexpected call at 10 Downing Street tonight in connection with expected early announcement of British plans to spend further millions on rearmament.

Prime Minister Attlee has been clearing final details before making the announcement. Britain has already approved addition of £100,000,000 to the existing £780,000,000 defence budget.

The new spending plan will be Britain's answer to the United States' call for Atlantic Pact members to report immediately on their ability to accelerate defence measures.

It was believed Douglas' visit to Attlee's official residence tonight was concerned with the transmission of Britain's new defence blueprint to Washington.

According to authoritative sources, the plan allows for the maximum possible expenditure on rearmament consistent with economic solvency, just short of the full switch to a wartime economy.

Drew Appoints Vancouver Man As Party's National Secretary

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, today injected new blood into the party's organization, appointing W. M. Kidd of Vancouver as national secretary at headquarters here.

In making the announcement as he prepared to leave for a two-month holiday overseas, Mr. Drew indicated that other moves will be made to strengthen the party's organization both at headquarters and in the provinces.

He said that an organization committee now is being established in consultation with representatives from each province.

Mr. Kidd, 35-year-old native of Nanaimo, Ont., will take over his duties immediately. He will work under George Nowlan, president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada and newly-elected member for the Nova Scotia constituency of Annapolis-Kings. Mr. Drew, in Montreal, awaiting a plane that will take him to the United Kingdom, made the announcement through his office here. Mr. Drew will spend a few days in London and then will fly to Italy, where he will join Mrs. Drew and their two children in Florence.

Fire Set by Brake Drum Cheats Bandits of Gold

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 2 (C.P.)—A faulty brake drum on a stolen automobile started a fire today which cheated two mine bandits of almost $100,000 in gold.

The car, owned by a 42-year-old watchman whom two hooded men overpowered before blasting open a vault at nearby Coniaturum Mines Ltd., was found, burned out about 25 miles east of here.

Three gold bricks, weighing a total of 216 pounds, were in the debris of the rear seat, abandoned by the thieves only a few minutes after their escape from the mine.

SEARCH PROCEEDS
Roadblocks were maintained throughout Northern Ontario tonight as police pressed the hunt for the robbers. They had little to go on. The Coniaturum watchman, Bill Edwards, said he saw only the men's eyes—and even the eyelids were blackened with shoe polish.

Police said the faulty brake drum set fire to the gasoline tank of the car as the bandits rounded a curve. The flames apparently spread to the back seat and, in a matter of seconds, engulfed the automobile.

Oxygen tanks used with acetylene equipment in the robbery were tossed from the car in time to prevent an explosion which would have killed the thieves, police said.

The bandits might have recovered the gold despite the fire, it wasn't until about 10 a.m. some five hours after the robbery—that the car and its rich cargo were discovered by Provincial Constable R. A. Baldwin, on highway patrol.

Police assumed the fire must have been about 6 a.m. at the latest, long before Constable Baldwin happened by.

WELL PLANNED
It was probably the biggest and robbery in Canadian history, police said. They called the job the work of skilled professionals who apparently had planned it for a long time. Their methods indicated they knew the Coniaturum layout and that the gold had been poured only yesterday in preparation for shipment to the mint at Ottawa today.

Police said the bandits might have doubled back to Timmins after the fire. Another car was stolen here early today.

Company officials said there were 216 pounds, Troy weight, of gold. Official Canadian price is $38.50 an ounce but the stolen bars would have brought much more at under-world prices.

Mythical Timber Sales Net Accused $800,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2 (C.P.)—Orlando G. Barker, 43, was charged in a Federal Grand Jury indictment today with selling non-existent Pacific Coast timberland.

Barker, of San Anselmo, Calif., was accused in 25 counts of using the United States mails to defraud. He is a former linotype operator in Europe and Crescent City, Calif.

VICTIMIZED 900
Assistant United States Attorney Macklin Fleming said the operations netted Barker $800,000 during the last five years. Postal inspectors said the accused's victims totaled almost 900.

The indictment charged that Barker sent through the mails two magazines—California Tax Sales and The California Logger—which advertised attractive timber lands as up for sale because of unpaid taxes. The properties were said to be in Northern California, Oregon and Washington.

Prospective customers were told—the indictment continued—that there were many buyers for the land and that dissatisfied customers would get their money back.

Actually, the indictment charged, the buyers were sent false deeds. Barker is free on $5,000 bail.

Home Construction for July Down From Figure for 1949

During July the city issued 159 building permits authorizing new construction valued at $275,697, it was announced yesterday by Building Inspector J. W. Oosterink.

This total does not include the value of new plumbing and wiring work which, in June, totaled $110,000.

The construction total includes nine permits for new home construction valued at $52,500, and one permit for a 17-suite, $85,000 apartment building.

Total for July, 1949, was 182 permits for construction valued at $1,352,145. This total included the permit for the new $1,012,000 Provincial Government office building still under construction.

In July, 1949, there were 23 permits issued for new home construction valued at $140,300. It is believed that the recent increase in the price of lumber may have accounted for the drop in home construction last month.

During June, 1950, a total of 175 permits were issued for construction valued at $1,068,226. This included the value put on the $500,000 addition to St. Joseph's Hospital and permits for 12 new houses valued at $60,000.

NO DRAINAGE VOTE

Sanich ratepayers will not be voting this year on a drainage by-law.

The municipal council has decided against placing a large scheme before the voters at the December elections. No further move in this direction is anticipated until the Ward Six section issue has been finalized.

Councillors John G. Ryan and E. P. Cummins led the move to have the by-law presented at the end of the year. When the motion to put up the by-law in December was ruled out of order because of council's procedure by-law, another similar motion was introduced by Councillor Ryan. This time the council defeated the move.

There has been a decided difference of opinion on the council as to whether drains or sewers should be installed first.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Pearce,

This Egg Was Worth $15

A lowly hen's egg became legal tender yesterday when Ald. Mrs. Margaret Christie cashed a "cheque" for $15 made out on a hard-boiled egg. "Cheque" was given Mrs. Christie, chairman of social welfare committee, by city comptroller-treasurer Henry Watson as donation to Juvenile Detention Home. Pictured above, as egg was examined prior to cashing at Douglas and Cormorant Streets branch of Canadian Bank of Commerce, are, left to right: Mr. Watson, Mrs. Christie, the egg, V. Cretney, clerk, and N. B. Winsby, assistant accountant.

Causes Excitement in Bank

Alderman Converts Hard-Boiled Egg Into Hard Cash for Juvenile Home

Her visit to the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Douglas and Cormorant Streets—where she converted a hard-boiled egg into $15 in cold, hard cash—caused a flurry of excitement almost as great as if she had produced a gun instead of an egg.

The story of the egg and Mrs. Christie started last week when the chairman of the social welfare committee asked City Comptroller-Treasurer Henry Watson to make a donation to the Juvenile Detention Home.

The affable comptroller replied that he would be glad to make a contribution, but had neither cash nor cheque book on his person at the time. Determined not to lose the opportunity to benefit the Juvenile Home, and remembering that a properly made out cheque is a cheque in the banking world regardless of what it is written on, Mrs. Christie seized the first blank object at hand—which happened to be a hard-boiled egg—and had Mr. Watson make out a cheque on his bank.

So it was that a hen's egg became legal tender, complete with three-cent stamp, order to pay $15, and signature.

It wasn't until yesterday morning that Mrs. Christie found time to get around to the bank to cash her "cheque."

Reporters who got wind of what was happening persuaded Mr. Watson to go along just in case his help was needed. But, as it turned out, the bank was eager to be of service to Mrs. Christie.

After she had endorsed the egg and had it certified by the bank's assistant-accountant, N. B. Winsby, Mrs. Christie stepped up to the teller's cage and rolled the "cheque" across the counter.

The teller, pretty Lorraine Welsh, picked the egg up gingerly and examined it with undoubted surprise. She looked at the stamp, at

Mr. Watson's signature, at Mrs. Christie's signature, then, as she started to say something, she became conscious of the eyes of what had become a sizable group of interested spectators.

"It's perfectly good," said Mrs. Christie, smiling encouragement. "There's nothing wrong with that cheque. I want $15 for it."

Miss Welsh looked over at Mr. Winsby. He smiled broadly, signified his approval and the coffers of the Juvenile Home became $15 richer.

Following completion of the unique transaction, Mr. Winsby confided in a reporter that it was not the first time he had been called upon to approve a novel kind of a cheque.

When he was on the staff of a branch in the interior of the province he cashed a rubber cheque for a man. It was not the kind of rubber which bounced, however, even though it could be stretched

T.L.C. President Says Strike Vote For Carpenters "Farce of Democracy"

The Government-supervised strike vote conducted recently among Victoria carpenters was termed "a farce of democracy" by Victoria Trades and Labor Council president C. A. Peck at a council meeting last night.

Attacking the system of holding separate ballots among carpenters employed by each firm, Mr. Peck said the vote should have been an over-all one of all carpenters affected.

SHOULD ACT AS BODY

For the purpose of negotiations the employers, through the Victoria Building Industries Exchange, act as a body, Mr. Peck said, and should continue to be considered as such when it comes to a strike vote.

Although a majority of the total number of carpenters employed by the 16 firms affected voted in favor of striking, a majority of employees of eight of the smaller firms voted against.

Under the I.C.A. Act, the union can thus call only a partial strike of the industry.

In the case of some of the smaller firms, the method of holding the vote rendered the ballot no longer secret, Mr. Peck declared.

COULD RETALIATE

"It's a farce of democracy when they allowed the results from each firm to be published so the employers could retaliate."

"Because of the sins of a few labor leaders and some unions, they made legislation adversely affecting a majority of trade unionists."

Mr. Peck's remarks touched off general discussion of the issue.

MEN GIVEN PEF TALK

Charges were reiterated that certain contractors had taken advantage of the vote being conducted on job sites by giving their men pep talks before balloting.

General feeling appeared to be that strike ballots should be conducted throughout operations as a whole affected rather than by the individual bargaining unit for which the union was certified.

Some delegates urged return to the practice of unions holding their own strike votes, with Government representatives observing, rather than actually conducting voting.

Three resolutions stemming from the discussion were endorsed:

The first called on the council executive to communicate with the Vancouver and New Westminster District Trades and Labor Council with a view to joint representation to the Provincial Cabinet over the strike ballot issue.

A second resolution asks the Trades and Labor Congress to call a conference of all British Columbia local unions regarding Provincial labor legislation.

Also endorsed was a recommendation that all unions affiliated with the council set up A.F.L.-type political action committees.

Island Believed Cleared Of Newcastle Disease

Newcastle disease appears to have been stamped out on Vancouver Island.

No new cases have been reported among Island turkey and poultry flocks for a month. Last case was at Goldstream where about 2,700 turkeys were slaughtered.

Meanwhile, W. H. Hope, provincial poultry inspector, announced yesterday there was also a marked decrease in the number of outbreaks of Newcastle disease in the Fraser Valley.

Officials of the poultry division attributed the lack of outbreaks to the use of "killed" vaccine.

They are carrying out the vaccination program at the rate of about 7,000 chickens a day, and the total immunized to date is about 90,000 birds.

The vaccination program is aimed at "fencing in" the disease. Vaccination of poultry is not compulsory but producers in areas where the infection has been prevalent have been urged to have their birds immunized.

Year's First Case Of Polio Reported

A LOCAL resident has been placed in isolation in hospital after examination indicated the presence of polio, it was learned yesterday.

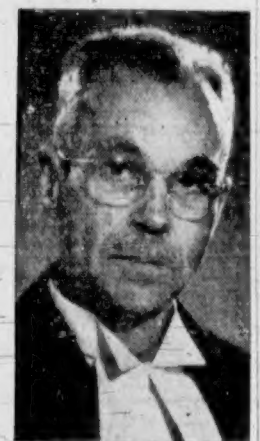

This is the first case of poliomyelitis discovered this year in Victoria.

Canada Hums and Haws While U.N. Troops Suffer

HOW deplorable is the vacillation of the Canadian Government when set against the stern reality of Korea. Here are forces of the United Nations suffering defeat for want of reinforcements, and Canada hums and haws. All over the Commonwealth, in Britain, in Australia and in New Zealand, ground troops are being rallied to go to the rescue, but Canada stays aloof. Yet a Cabinet Minister from this city can say, with astounding complacency, "that everything needed for our defence and for taking part in the Korean war is being done."

What has been done? Except to appease its conscience by sending three destroyers and eight transport planes the Federal Cabinet has done no more than write letters to the United Nations secretariat. Instead of a clear-cut decision that would show that this nation intended to honor its sacred pledges to the world organization, Cabinet members have enveloped themselves in a maze of ifs and buts.

The great need of the moment, as every man knows, is for ground troops—men with guns and tanks to throw into the scale against the Communist Korean armies. No amount of equivocation by the Prime Minister can alter that obvious fact. The presence of Canadian sailors on the spot does not lessen that need one iota. Negotiations about the hypothetical use of a hypothetical force are not only a waste of time, but also are an unworthy evasion of responsibility. It is action, physical effort, that counts.

This country is bound by its word to support the United Nations, and it is not doing so in the manner it should. That is the unpleasant situation staring Canadians in the face as the Federal Government fiddles and fumbles. The implications of the Korean war are wide; they could spread to other and vaster global areas, but that risk must be met. What is essential is that each member state of the United Nations pitch in with men and materials that are needed for victory.

A ground force must be built up rapidly to accomplish this, and Canada will not be able to lift her head in self-respect unless she is part of it. Already other nations look askance at the unusual spectacle of Canada taking a back seat. The Prime Minister has misjudged the country he is obligated to lead when he sits hesitatingly on the fence. Mere lip-service to the United Nations' call is unworthy of this nation. Canadian ground troops should be mobilized for Korea without any further delay.

The Cabinet met again yesterday on the Korean situation, but the result was the same—indecision. Will it come alive to reality when it resumes its discussions today?

B.C. to Stop Airborne Piracy of Game Coverts

THE Provincial Government, currently under criticism for a nonsensical bow-and-arrow decree, is to be commended for taking direct action this week to stop the predatory robbing of its game coverts by unlicensed hunting parties which fly into the remotest regions of the province, slaughter game wholesale in and out of season and leave without paying one dollar for their pot-hunting carnival. Such actions, of course, are illegal, besides being unsportsmanlike, and against the best interests of game preservation in British Columbia. Also, they are difficult to stop, when aircraft can be set down on any waterway and be off again in a matter of hours.

The Province is attacking the right end of the problem when it makes it obligatory to obtain special licences to carry fishing or hunting gear by air into the British Columbia wilds. This need not curtail one single visitor who plays the rules. It will, however, shut out those whose whole intent is to poach, and who in the aggregate have already done a vast amount of damage to the game stocks of British Columbia. What the Attorney-General has to contend with here is the pot-hunter gone aloft, with a 150-mile per hour plane at his use and his nebulous destination of "nowhere."

The order in council announced yesterday will put a measure of direct help into the hands of British Columbia game wardens and others vested with the control of such affairs. They will at least have an identity for such incoming air parties, and a home address. They will also be assured that the customary fishing and hunting fees have been paid, and that no one can claim, after the event, that they were not aware of a closed season. It may be some time yet before the Province can employ planes to track down the last of the poachers, but a good start has been made at the ground level. It was high time.

One Small Spark Can Destroy a Forest

SO far this Summer Vancouver Island has been unusually fortunate, perhaps uniquely so, in the small extent of losses from forest fires. The recent outbreak in the Sayward district, however, serves as a reminder that the danger is ever-present in any prolonged period of hot, dry weather. Improved techniques in the detection and suppression of fires in timberlands are steadily reducing the annual destruction, but they can go only so far; the carelessly-thrown match or cigarette butt and the camp fire not completely extinguished still can and do cause the loss of millions of dollars worth of standing and cut timber each year.

The virtual dehydration of the forests that usually occurs in August makes this one of the Summer's most dangerous months. During the next month or six weeks thousands of tourists and island residents will be driving through the forests or holidaying in woodland retreats, and each one of them should keep in mind the realization of what a moment's carelessness can do. It is an old saw that all fires are the same size at the start; but whereas a municipal fire brigade can usually reach a fire within minutes, outbreaks in the woods have a long head start and can envelop large areas before effective measures can be brought to bear against them.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing,
was—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

TRANSPLANTING the idea, to the Canadian scene, The Ottawa Journal makes sport of the suggestion put forth in the British House of Commons that a Ministry of Sport be established.

It imagines a day when some foreign eleven, or nine or six, invades Ottawa and makes mincemeat of a Canadian ministry's chosen national six, nine or eleven. It even conjures an enraged fan shouting "Kill the Prime Minister!" which, while it sounds shocking, would at least mark a welcome change for the poor umpire.

The Ottawa daily goes further and foresees Canadian Governments going down to political defeat each time a national team takes the field and gets licked.

All very facetious, of course, but... Think of Russia, of Germany, of Czechoslovakia.

Wasn't Schmeling in decidedly poor favor with Hitler when he betrayed his 'Aryan' compeers by losing the heavyweight championship? Weren't the Dynamos made to toe the line as they took the hammer and sickle to British soccer grounds? Didn't the Czech Government get peeved when tennis star Jaroslav Drobný ran out on them?

Politics and sport don't mix—well. There is no sign that the idea is being taken seriously in Britain, but who knows. One might expect anything of governments nowadays.

The Ministry of Sport suggestion stems from the rather overwhelming succession of defeats suffered by British athletes in recent months. Rowing, cricket, golf, tennis, boxing—each of these realms in turn passed into the safe-keeping of foreigners, that is, of non-Britons.

It was the humbling victory of an American soccer team over the pick of England's internationals in the World Cup series, however, which sealed the despair. To be beaten at a national game by a country considered as only third-rate was a bitter pill.

To some sports commentators, and at least one M.P., that is. Quite likely the nation as a whole is unperturbed. There's always another day, and the lane is bound to have a turning.

But if there were a Ministry of Sports, philosophy would be no comfort. The matter would be too serious.

It is here that something more than a facetious note is in order—just in case.

Create a Ministry of Sport and you tie sporting success to the ego of the Minister. He could scarcely deny a defeat in the sports arena with the celebrity with which he would hide a departmental mistake, but he could—and probably would—so bedevil matters with political manipulation as to make sport a government hand-maiden.

In time, too, a Ministry of Sport would come to regard an international contest as one on which the fate of his department was at stake. This would not matter so much if sporting teams were substituted for armies and international quarrels were settled between goalposts. But otherwise—no.

Even if it should stand clear from backing one single national team such a ministry would so wrap athletes in red tape their muscles would freeze into atrophy.

Governments keep poking their noses into too much human activity as it is. Let them stay out of sport.

Canada, for one, is not Russia, Germany or Czechoslovakia, and this proposition is purely hypothetical. But governments, even in democracies, are a bit too dictatorial for comfort.

And the only dictator that sport needs is the umpire—he's bad enough.

Peanuts and Sunflowers

By RAYMOND MOLEY

NEW YORK — Conservatives are still attacking and Attlee's Government defending that grim joke, "Operation Groundnuts," sired by the Rt. Hon. Evelyn John St. Lee Strachey, erstwhile Minister of Food and now Secretary of State for War. Strachey never had the slightest qualification in business or government administration before he entered the Government. He has spent years in writing tomes against capitalism. His Communist views were notorious.

When the groundnuts (peanuts) scheme was launched in 1947, it was hailed by the Labor press as "The most comprehensive plans in Britain's history." Vast profits were certain, they said, and the descendants of beef-eating ancestors were to attain new vitality from peanuts. The plan involved bringing into cultivation 5,000 square miles in East Africa. It was to cost $48,000,000 at the present value of the pound.

It was clear by 1948 that the project was getting into a mess. So there was formed a government corporation to take it over. But things grew even worse. In the Spring of 1949 it was revealed that instead of 600,000 acres, according to plan, only 30,000 had been cleared and planted. Production of nuts was only 5,000 tons, instead of the planned 50,000 tons. The cost of all this had mounted far beyond the original estimate. In fact, the cost per acre turned out to be twelve times the estimate.

In the February election the scheme was pointed out by Conservatives to be a monumental example of ineptitude and mismanagement "to which every man, woman and child" in Britain had been taxed 10 shillings. Even Rex Tugwell, once United States under-secretary of agriculture and, incidentally, no stranger to expensive exploits in government agricultural schemes, has said after several months in Britain that British Labor might have been guilty of excessive expectations.

Since this nightmare had lost votes in the February election, Attlee contrived to kick Strachey out of the Ministry of Food and upstairs into the War Office, where his blundering is still affecting his party and his country.

Now, after about $100,000,000 has been squandered, the Labor Government has about decided to transform the project. In the new era, peanuts and sunflowers—for those backyard blooms were a part of the scheme—will be relegated to a small place, and a grand new agricultural development will be carried out. It will take money, of course, but maybe not so much.

But even in this new plan, the present Minister of Food, Maurice Webb—whose experience in agriculture and business was gained as a radio commentator and general Labor politician—seems to exhibit the same visionary ineptitude as his predecessor. He is working on a plan, he says. Labor is always busy on plans. It will appear in a White Paper later this year. He will not abandon those expensive peanuts and sunflowers, but there will be bigger and broader agricultural developments in East Africa. There will be pigs and cattle and sorghum. He is sending out "messages of good will and confidence" to the people who are struggling against 8,000 acres of ant hills. He admits that the sunflowers haven't done so well.

Finally, in the debate last week a disillusioned Labor member said sadly that "the scheme would have been more successful if the methods of private enterprise had been adopted." That might be a wholesome solution of the problem of the entire British economy.

Fog of Fine Phrases

(From The Letter Review)

OTTAWA news releases continue to reflect the growing habit, firmly established in Canadian public life during the World War, of feeding soothing syrup to the public in place of hard facts.

Mr. St. Laurent unquestionably played a leading and honorable part in bringing the free nations to a realization that, while the United Nations system may yet lead to greater safety against war, practical considerations demanded some more definite co-operation than mere words if Russian aggression was to be thwarted. The Atlantic Pact owes much of its success to his leadership.

Yet Canada has made but slight preparations to back up his statements with anything like adequate military preparations. It is patetically true, as Mr. Claxton has announced, that the diversion of any important part of Canadian fighting forces to direct support of operations in Korea would leave the country totally undefended.

Thus, Ottawa handouts to the press take refuge in vague promises to do whatever United Nations may want done, provided that does not involve actual military operations. This rather humiliating position is supported by language that suggests that United Nations has not yet asked for the use of force in support of its orders, while the truth is that Mr. Lie, now completely cured of any delusions as to the Russian attitude, has openly asked all the nations that support the United Nations Korean policy to furnish military support, especially in the form of the employment of ground forces of more than token strength.

While Washington quite frankly admits failure to maintain adequate and effective military power, Ottawa evades the issue; cloaks failure in a fog of fine phrases.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Considerable indignation is felt against the bank robbers who fled across a golf course without having the courtesy to ask: "May we play through?"

Nowhere in this Communist petition now circulating here and throughout the world does it say anything about Korea and the peace pipe that turned out to be a loaded cigar.

Some confusion was caused in a recent Montreal wrestling match when one wrestler knocked the other out with a chair. No one seems to know whether this was la script.

With those who lose their tempers it's unfortunate that the loss is only temporary.

Forest Ranger: "Why is it you always ride and your wife walks?" Indian: "She no gollum-horse."

A medical columnist says the secret of reducing is to "leave the table a little bit hungry." Anything hungrier than the table we leave would be hard to find.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

WHEN you crack a lovely fresh limpid egg into the frying pan, it never occurs to you that, magically involved in the delicate and transparent circle already clouding and whitening before your eyes, are feathers, beak, claws, feet, cackle or cock-a-doodle-doo.

Eggs are so commonplace, mankind has been looking at them in various styles for so long, that the mystery of them literally does not exist for us. Yet the mystery of the egg is the mystery of life. And sometimes of recent years, the thought occurs to humble egg fryers like me that it might be a good idea if science relaxed its attention on atomic bombs and returned, for a little while, to the egg.

Apparently the egg has trumped science; so science has turned to the atom to save its face. There is pomp and the majesty of terror in the atomic bomb. But who's afraid of an egg?

Only the scientist. In that mild, formless gelatinous egg, frying there in the bacon fat, is the riddle that baffles them all.

If a hen-had sat on it for a certain number of days, that shapeless golden jelly would have been transubstantiated into beak, eyes, feathers, wings, legs, feet, complicated innards of heart, lungs, gizzard, and all the factory-fresh mechanism for carrying on the mystery of life, of which this egg is the first question.

If science wants something to solve, why does it so studiously avoid the egg? Never mind atoms. What is life? If we go searching in that direction, the scare we may all get will be more wholesome than the scare the atomic bomb gives us.

Meanwhile, regardless of feathers, beak, feet, cackle and all—which have not yet transpired—let us eat this egg. (Canada Wide Feature Service Ltd.)

Sir,—In your Packsack article recently on snakes and tobacco, Mr. Clark states that snakes are stone deaf. If so, why is it that when a garter snake is disturbed, if you should start whistling a tune, he will pause in his retreat and apparently listen for as long as you like to stand still whistling?

Whose pathless march no mortal may control!
Ye ocean waves! that, wheresoever ye roll,
Yield homage only to eternal laws!
Ye woods! that listen to the night-birds' singing,
Midway the smooth and perilous slope reclined,
Save when your own imperious branches
Swinging.

Have made a solemn music of the wind!
Where, like a man beloved of God,
Through glooms, which never woodman tread,
How oft, pursuing fancies holy,
My moonlight way o'er flowering weeds I wound.

Inspired, beyond the guess of folly,
By each rude shape, and wild, unconquerable sound!

O ye loud waves! and O ye forests high!
And O ye clouds that far above me soared!

Railways Declare Action Shock, Disappointment

MONTREAL, Aug. 2 (CP).—Canada's two biggest railways said in a joint statement today they are "surprised and disappointed" at the announcement of strike action by 17 railway brotherhoods.

The statement, issued by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, said that "meetings designed to effect settlement of the labor differences between the companies and their employees have been taking place and have been arranged to continue."

"Before and since the recommendations of the two boards of conciliation were made known, the railways have sought a peaceful settlement of these differences. On May 1, they informed the Minister of Labor that 'having weighed their responsibility to the employees and to the public, the railways are willing to accept the findings contained in the majority reports and are ready to negotiate a settlement on this basis.'"

The statement said this understanding would involve the railways in an additional expenditure of $18,225,000 a year when applied only to the employees concerned and that this cost would rise to approximately $27,000,000 a year when the benefits were applied to all employees.

The recommendations of the conciliation boards had been "summarily rejected" by the unions, but nonetheless the railways have continued to hold discussions with labor and have indicated their willingness to go farther than the recommendations of the board and give the dissident labor groups a reduction in working hours from 48 to 44 hours a week with no reduction in take-home pay, thus putting them in an advantageous position in relation to industrial labor generally in Canada.

"This offer would cost the rail-

Oddities

LEEDS, Eng., Aug. 2 (Reuters).—Rev. Charles Young is fed up with "poor excuses" for absence from church.

In the current issue of his parish magazine, he writes:

"The kind of excuse I mean is like the one that alleges that this generation stays away from church because it cannot stand the parsonic drawl."

"Yet I have seen these young things as they listened enraptured to a crooner making sounds that were a cross between an air raid siren and a curlew calling its mate."

"I cannot honestly accept that kind of excuse—and I own that I am rather hard on the curlew."

SPRINGFIELD, O., Aug. 2 (AP).—Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Ramey, who moved here last May, led a rather quiet life until the Korean war began.

Then the telephone rang constantly. The callers gave statistics on marriages and births and asked puzzling questions about the manpower status.

The reason? The Rameys discovered that their phone number formerly was that of the County Selective Service Board.

Proclamation at 6:40 Averted 7 A.M. Revolt

By SERGE NABAKOFF

BRUSSELS, Aug. 2 (Reuters).—Belgium was within 20 minutes of revolution Tuesday.

The capital would have been stormed at 7 a.m. if King Leopold had not signed his proclamation quelling the throne at 6:40.

I learned these facts tonight from reliable sources close to the Government. They disclosed the full story of the dramatic moves that ended the ten-day monarchy.

It was the story of a tense clash between the king and even his staunch supporters in the all-Catholic cabinet, as the rioting Walloons marched on the heavily-guarded capital.

Leopold surrendered to the inevitable only after a wearying night of bitter negotiation and exhausting crisis talks in his palace.

WALKED OUT

Leopold, my sources disclosed, tried vainly to impose his own conditions and once staged a walk-out on the cabinet.

At another point the whole government, unshaken and haggard, tendered their resignations—except for Minister of the Interior Albert de Vleeschauwer. Leopold called him in to private consultation.

Eventually, the other ministers sent word to the king, cloistered with de Vleeschauwer, that they could wait no longer and would leave the palace.

The Minister of the Interior hurried out and pleaded on behalf of Leopold for withdrawal of their resignations.

Leopold, he announced, had agreed to sign the proclamation unconditionally.

Urgent telephone calls were made to the Socialist leaders who immediately countermanded their orders for the march on the capital.

This ended the crisis—and the ten-day second reign of King Leopold III.

Boy Survives Two Days In Wet Bush

ST. SCHOLASTIQUE, Quebec, August 2 (CP).—Under a rain-soaked bush a searcher today found ten-year-old Luc Prevost, a none-too-strong lad who had been missing from home 48 hours.

In his mother's arms the lad sobbed out a story of a hike that turned into a nightmare.

The boy was found by a neighbor, Albert Huot, who came upon him not more than three-quarters of a mile from his home near this Lake of Two-Mountains village.

SOAKED, SHIVERING

As Huot, one of 40 volunteer searchers who started to hunt for the missing boy last Monday night, came up to him, Luc covered and plesed:

"Please don't hurt me."

The boy was soaked, shivering and weeping after his two days and nights in the woods.

Searchers picked up the trail boy and carried him back to his farm home, just three miles from this village. There they gave him into the arms of his mother, dark-eyed from lack of sleep.

A doctor called in to examine the boy said it was "a miracle" that Luc survived the 48 hours without food. But Luc claimed that except for a numb feeling in his feet, he had no pains or aches.

Securities Sales Up During May

OTTAWA, Aug. 2 (CP).—Transactions in securities between Canada and other countries increased during May, the Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Total transactions involved $50,000,000 during the month compared with $42,900,000 the previous month and $39,400,000 in May last year. In the first five months of 1956, aggregate transactions were $223,000,000 against $158,500,000 in the similar period of 1955.

Tuna Pioneer Rescued As Ship Burns

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 2 (CP).

A leading Vancouver fisherman—a pioneer in the recent development of the tuna fishery in Pacific Northwest waters—and his two-man crew, escaped death last night when fire destroyed their vessel offshore near here.

Safely ashore today were Capt. Normal Ryall, Verne Hansen and Leroy Kulmann, all of Vancouver. The Rosalie III was built in Vancouver especially for tuna fishing. She was a 44-foot deepsea trawler, fitted with refrigerated holds to enable her to remain on offshore fishing grounds until a full load had been caught.

Naval Board to Interview Candidates for Commissioned Rank

A Fleet Selection Board of senior naval officers in Pacific Command is being held at H.M.C.S. Ontario to interview R.C.N. personnel recommended for commissioned rank.

The 45 candidates range in rating from ordinary seamen to chief petty officers.

Those qualified educationally and professionally are being considered for one of the four avenues of promotion open to them.

1. Men under 19 are being interviewed with a view to placing them in one of the Canadian service colleges.

2. Those under 23 will be considered for promotion to sub-lieutenant.

3. Men with technical background and who have university entrance under a scheme instituted two years ago, will be placed in a science faculty of a Canadian university.

4. Left with a minimum of 12 years' service and qualified educationally and professionally will be considered for promotion to branch officer—a new term for officers formerly known as warrant officers and commissioned officers from warrant rank.

The board will interview men who have been recommended for entry into the navy's preparatory school to complete their formal education prior to being further considered for one of the avenues of promotion outlined above.

SPECIAL BOARD
A special board will be convened in the destroyers, Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux, now in the Korean war zone, and final results will be passed to naval headquarters.

The board at H.M.C.S. Ontario will also interview cadets of the University Naval Training Division who have completed their third year at university, for transfer to the navy with the rank of sub-lieutenant.

Successful candidates in this group will complete their final university year and immediately commence naval training.

MEMBERS OF BOARD
On the local board are: Capt. H. F. Pullen, president; Cmdr. J. C. Reed, Cmdr. J. M. Leeming and Instr. Cmdr. J. D. Armstrong, members.

Specialist officers, representing the branch for which candidates are eligible for entry, include: Capt. (E) B. R. Spencer, engineering branch; Capt. (S) C. J. Dillon, supply branch; Surg. Cmdr. G. W. Chapman, medical branch; Ordnance Cmdr. H. M. Walker, ordnance branch; and Lieut. F. H. Mount, executive branch.

SINKING REPORT DENIED
Navy officials at Esquimalt yesterday termed as "absolutely untrue" reports that the destroyer H.M.C.S. Athabaskan had been sunk.

Source of the report was said to have been an American radio station.

The Athabaskan is one of three Canadian destroyers in the Korean war zone.

SOCKEYE SCOUTING
Gordon Barris, local representative for the Federal Department of Fisheries, said yesterday that about 15 skimmers were out in the Strait of Georgia to begin scouting for the sockeye salmon run.

The run is expected later in the month.

Mr. Barris reported that there have been "no exciting catches" as yet.

He reported, however, that tuna landings here have been "fair" with about 30 boats bringing in 6,000 pounds of the fish each.

GILNETTER-SINKS
Department of Transport agent said yesterday that two fishermen were on the Sandhead lightship at the mouth of the Fraser River after their gillnetter sank Tuesday night.

A wireless message from the lightship said that the boat was in trouble during the night and tied up alongside. Two men identified only as Nutch and Noakes, went aboard the lightship and their craft broke loose and sank "sometime during the night."

Mr. Morrison said that a light-house tender would be calling the Frisco but that the two men would likely get ashore on one of the many passing fish boats.

DEADHEAD SPOTTED
The Department of Transport warns mariners that a large deadhead was reported bearing 084 degrees true, 14 miles from Seabird Point, Discovery Island, Haro Strait, at 11 a.m. (P.D.T.) Tuesday.

Mariners are also advised that Ketchikan Point Light, Strait of Georgia, has been light.

NAVY PICNIC PLANNED
The third annual Command Children's Picnic for youngsters of all R.C.N. personnel in the area will be held at H.M.C.S. Naden August 17.

The event will feature races, games, pony rides, train rides, a midway and hot-dog booths and pop and ice cream.

The picnic is a joint effort by committees from all ships and establishments in the command, each department is responsible for a booth on the midway and part of the day's entertainment.

Wives of naval personnel, whose husbands are serving in Korean waters or are otherwise absent from the command, and who have children under ten years of age will be invited to the picnic by mailing a card to: Children's Picnic Party, Petty Officers' Mess, H.M.C.S. Naden, Esquimalt, B.C.

The card must have the names and ages of children who will be attending the picnic and must be mailed before August 14.

Telephoned applications will not be accepted.

Buses are being arranged to transport the children and their parents to and from the larger playing field, Colville Road, Esquimalt, where the event will be held. Parking space will also be available.

SHIP MOVEMENTS
Ss. Caledonian Monarch unloaded general cargo from Montreal at Ogden Point yesterday and left during the night.

Loading 1,000,000 board feet of lumber for the United Kingdom was the Cape Ortel.

ANGLERS SAVE DOG
A small cocker spaniel was saved from drowning yesterday after two fishermen spotted the animal swimming in circles a mile and a half offshore in the Patricia Bay area.

Clarence McConnell, 3100 Fifth Street, and friend G. Thompson, of Sidney, said the dog was landed after some difficulty. They believe he would have been drowned in another ten minutes had he not been spotted.

How the dog happened to be that far from shore was unknown. It is now being kept at Mr. Thompson's home until its owner can be found.

LANDING SUCCESS
An R.C.A.F. helicopter carried out three successful landings on the deck of the air force supply vessel Songhees Tuesday in Esquimalt Harbor.

The tests were part of a stepped-up plan for coastal search-and-rescue work.

The Songhees from the marine squadron at Patricia Bay, has a 35 by 25-foot landing deck constructed on her after-deck.

Three men are generally carried in the plane.

Sqn. Ldr. R. M. Beer, commanding officer of the marine squadron, said the helicopter could fly 100 to 150 miles up the coast in the event of a crash and meet the Songhees for refueling. It could also be taken aboard ship and transported to the area to be searched.

Additional tests will be carried out at Esquimalt Harbor Monday.

U.S. Buyers Applaud New Fall Designs

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, Aug. 2 (AP)—The style-setting Spanish designer Balenciaga, at his Fall opening Monday night, introduced a natural silhouette that rejected any attempt to make the female figure look what it isn't. His silhouette, reverse of the puffed-up feminine shape displayed by Christian Dior last week, was applauded enthusiastically by United States buyers at the end of the show.

The Spaniard showed short-hip, hugging suit jackets reaching only three to eight inches below the waist. The set-in sleeves were mounted at a dropped shoulder line which was unadorned. His skirts were narrow and reached to just below mid-calf level.

Like Robert Piguet, Balenciaga makes a great fuss over the suit dress.

He designs them in tweed and long-haired wool for day wear, and in satins and lace for cocktail and evening.

Over them he put severely-tailored jackets with square shoulders and long protruding pelmets.

Balenciaga prefers decolette dresses with dropping epaulettes sleeves, topped by brief jackets that have large cape collars, reminiscent of his native Spain. Both designers also favor hose wrist-length jackets over matching dresses.

Balenciaga cuts his with flared backs stiffened to stand out and accentuate the narrowness of his skirts.

Dorcas Auxiliary Presents Play

A short, moving play, "The Real Presence," was given Sunday evening at Garden City United Church. Taking place at the home of Martha and Mary in Bethany three years after the Pentecost, the play had the following cast: Mrs. D. E. Dick, Martha; Mrs. R. G. Phillips, Mary; Mrs. P. J. Krahn, woman of the streets; Mr. W. R. Liveray, Mark; Miss Liesel Layritz, prologue; and the Misses Marian Rainer, Frances Boon and Florence Scrimshaw, readers.

It will be presented again on Sunday evening at 7:30 at Wilkeson Road United Church when the Dorcas Auxiliary, sponsors of the play, will be in charge of the service. A short hymn and a cornet solo by Mr. Jack Smith, festival winner, will also feature the service.

Mrs. Gordon Robinson, Gordon Head, was hostess at an afternoon tea and meeting of the St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Auxiliary. The president, Mrs. H. Warren, gave the devotional and Mrs. R. A. Davis delivered an informal report on the C.O.I.T. Summer camp at Glens Lake. Tea was served after guests were taken on a tour of the beautiful gardens.

Married 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Brooker, who were married on August 5, 1900, in Hazelville, Hornsey Rise, London, England, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Brooker, 3322 Doncaster Drive. They will be at home from 3 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 10 in the evening.

New Drug For Asthma

When is a dachshund not a dachshund? When he is a guinea pig. And this is good news for asthma and hay fever victims. In case none of this makes sense, here is the explanation.

The asthmatic dachshund was brought to the offices of a chemical firm in London, where he was treated, with "highly satisfactory results," with Asmaton—a new inhalant currently being tested on humans at a London hospital.

These tests are based on the new "fungus" theory. Recent research has established that asthma inhalants when exposed to the air grew a fungus, and that an identical fungus grows also on the bronchi of those taking the inhalant. As long as this fungus is present the patient's condition must remain static and his chance of recovery nil. On the other hand, it is believed that a fungicidal inhalant may give permanent relief to the hardest case. Asmaton is said to have this property and results so far obtained at the hospital are very encouraging. The inhalant has already given relief for periods of up to two years, and one interesting case is quoted of a patient suffering from both asthma and hay fever, for both of which Asmaton provided effective relief.

Island Temple No. 8, Pythian Sisters, will hold a sewing tea for the Fall bazaar at the K. of P. Hall, Cormorant Street, on Tuesday evening in lieu of the regular meeting. Hostesses will be Mrs. Olive Carter, Mrs. Vera Barry and Mrs. Dora Elliott. Pythian Sisters visiting in Victoria welcome.

Blind Institute Tea Attracts 160 Guests

Musical selections by versatile William Lavery and his one-man band featuring banjo and drums added a note of gaiety to the garden tea given yesterday afternoon by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. The shady garden at the home of Mrs. H. Weldon, 905 Pemberton Road, was the setting for the function.

Lending their patronage were His Honor the Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks and among the guests were Archdeacon and Mrs. A. E. de L. Nunn, Mrs. T. A. Rickard, Mrs. A. Beavan, Mrs. G. H. Barnard, Mrs. B. Thorpe-Douglas and Capt. M. C. Robinson of Vancouver. Capt. Robinson, who heads the Vancouver C.N.I.B. branch, spoke briefly on the work being done by the auxiliary and on the increasing opportunities for the blind people. He also expressed pleasure at the outstanding attendance at the tea, patronized by approximately 160 people.

Mrs. E. E. Henderson, assisted by Mrs. K. L. Patton, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mrs. A. Beavan and Mrs. N. Newcombe, was in charge of the tea. Miss Anna Russell arranged the musical program which, in addition to Mr. Lavery's selections, included numbers by Mr. Billy Hitch on the cornet; and Mrs. C. F. Armstrong was in charge of transportation. The door prize donated by Mrs. G. Irving, Mrs. N. Griscoll and Mrs. S. Horton were won by Mr. Crocker, Mrs. Grantham and Mr. Pender.

Team Begins Judging In Contest

Winners of the second annual Veterans' Land Act development competitions should be announced within a month, officials said yesterday.

Prizes totaling $10,000 will be awarded to veterans whose V.L.A. holdings show the most landscaping and agricultural progress. Top prize for B.C. is the Canadian Legion Trophy, now held by A. R. McKay of Kamloops.

A three-man team began judging holdings Tuesday. The week of August 14-19 will be spent judging finalists on Vancouver Island and the Gulf area.

Boost Granted To Carpenters

Signing of a new agreement between Nanaimo Local 527 of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and the Nanaimo Contractors' Association providing a 13-cent-an-hour increase for some 200 carpenters was announced yesterday by the international union representative, Victor Midgley.

The increase, effective September 1, brings carpenters' wages to $1.68 an hour, rate currently being sought by the Victoria local in negotiations with the Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

Agreement was reached following sittings of a three-man conciliation board comprising M. C. McGeough, chairman; A. Hokanson, employers' nominee; and R. Strachan, union nominee.

Also included in the contract is reduction of the waiting period in the present union shop clause from 30 to 14 days, and a clause guaranteeing work for the duration of the contract.

The show opened yesterday afternoon at the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden and will conclude tonight with an auction of the blooms at 9 o'clock in aid of the Queen Alexandra Solarium. The show will open at 9 a.m.

The colorful display was judged by F. C. Cave, Vancouver, and Harry Savage, Calgary.

Hundreds of visitors saw the rows of vari-colored gladioli exhibits after official judging had ended yesterday afternoon.

Sam Arrowsmith, Experimental Station, Sanilichon, was awarded the Island Gladiolus Trophy for being grand champion with his entry Rialgar, and the Canadian Gladiolus Society silver medal as reserve champion with his exhibit Miss Dainty. Mrs. C. Lyons, 2838 Murray Drive won the President's Cup for her exhibit Greta Garbo in the women's division.

LATEST ADDITION

Mario Lanza is going to be up to his tonsils in opera singers in "The Life of Caruso." Jarmila Novotna is the latest to be added to the life story of the great Enrico.

Just a few days ago, L.O.P. told you blonde Dorothy Kirsten will sing arias from three operas with Mario. Novotna will duet with him in "Rigoletto" in the scenes when Caruso made his debut at Covent Garden in England.

"What's more," said Novotna, "we have some love scenes after the songs."

Amusingly enough, Mario is the only singer in the picture who has never sung at the Metropolitan.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS

George Raft gets back to town this week-end after months in Europe.

Franchot Tone and Barbara Feyton, doing the town at the King's and Mowbray, laughing off rumors of their elopement. Franchot leaves in a day or two to visit his Jean Wallace and the children, in Canada.

Jack Buell, excited about starting his first picture in eight years, dined the Donald O'Connors and Garwood Van at the Saddle and Sirloin before taking off for "Best of the Bad Men" in Utah. It's his first since "The Outlaw."

Advance reports on Jane Wyman in "Three Guys Named Mike" (the American Airlines hostess yarn at M.G.M.) are on the sensational side.

There will be no little change on "At War With The Army." Freddie Finklehoffe says the stars in the billing, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, are the tip off that it's a comedy.

L.O.P. called to say she ran into Marjorie Little, Jimmy Durante's girl friend. Marjorie reports Jimmy in Reno for a two-week singing stint. Then he will join her at the races.

Bill and Mary Gargan go to San Francisco to see their son, Bill Jr., get his B.A. degree from the University of San Francisco. Then they all head for New York where Junior will be associated with Bill on his television show.

Some players, on defence against small-ace contracts, invariably lay down an ace if they hold such a card. Then, since they know what they would have done under such circumstances, when they become declarer—they attribute the same practice to the opposition. This, however, is by no means a safe working principle, because a great many fine players do not lead ace against slams. Let's see how this affected the play in the following deal.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass
3 ♠ Pass 4 ♠ Pass
5 ♠ Pass 6 ♠ (final bid)

South had an excellent hand, but there was still considerable question that he should have bid over four spades!

West was not the sort of player to lay down an ace from an ace-queen combination without another reasonably sure trick in his hand; he preferred to open a trump. As it happened, however, South was an ace-leader, himself, and therefore jumped to the conclusion that because West had not led the missing ace, he did not have it. Thus, South drew trumps in three rounds and confidently led a heart toward his own hand. He was a saddened player when West promptly collected two heart tricks.

To repeat, South's assumption relative to the heart ace was not sound, but aside from that, he overtook the really good line of play for the contract. After taking the first trick with the spade ace, he should have cashed the diamond ace, then led the spade three to dummy's nine. He should ruff a diamond with the spade king, lead a low club to the ten and ruff the last diamond, then go back to the club jack and draw trumps—discarding two hearts. He could then run enough clubs to fulfill the contract.

This "dummy-reversal" plan was clearly superior to South's actual procedure.

Unique Band Will Be Heard Here

Victorians will have an opportunity of hearing the Canadian-American Schoolgirls' Band with personnel of 80 members at the Arena, Friday, August 4, at 8 o'clock.

Organized and conducted by Arthur R. Thompson, who has enjoyed 42 years' experience with high school bands in the United States, the organization and establishment of this new band is one of the most unique projects ever instituted in music, with the sole objective, Mr. Thompson states, "of promoting world peace through international understanding and friendship by means of good music."

The band presented its dedication concert on Sunday, July 23, at the International Peace Garden, 60 miles south of Brandon, Man., midpoint of the long unfortified international boundary line, with one-half of the band sent in each country. The conductor's podium was placed so that he stood with one foot in each country as he directed.

A Murder Is Announced

"I know," said Miss Marple. "Human. And often very much to be pitied. But very dangerous, too. Especially a weak, kindly murderer like Charlotte Blacklock. Because once a weak person gets really frightened, they get quite savage with terror and they're no self-control at all."

"Murgatroyd?" said Julian.

"Yes, poor Miss Murgatroyd. Charlotte must have come up to the cottage and heard them rehearsing the murder. The window was open and she listened. It had never occurred to her until that moment that there was anyone else who could be a danger to her. Miss Hinchliffe was urging her friend to remember what she'd seen and until that moment Charlotte hadn't there."

CHAPTER XLVII

"I asked Miss Hinchliffe," Miss Marple said, "if that was the way she said it. Because if she'd said 'She wasn't there' it wouldn't have meant the same thing. But, Miss Murgatroyd said, 'She wasn't there'."

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

THE PUSY BASKET

Uncle Wiggily, who had started to twinkle his pink nose, stopped the twinkle half way. One side of his nose twinkled and the other side didn't twinkle. The rabbit gentleman looked at Mr. Twisttail, the jolly fat pig.

"What was that you said, Twisttail?" asked Mr. Longears.

"I said," went on Mr. Twisttail, "I went on Mr. Twisttail's mouthful of mushrooms if you please, Wiggy. Excuse me."

"I will excuse you," said Uncle Wiggily, as he let the other half of his nose twinkle. "But I am not so sure my wife will excuse you. Twisttail, you know it isn't polite to talk with your mouth full. Especially when there is a lady present."

"Oh, excuse me," grunted the pig gentleman, as he swallowed the last mushroom. "I'm very sorry."

"I will excuse you," answered Mrs. Longears, formal like and polite. "I am anxious to hear what you said Mr. Twisttail, when you came running back so fast from the mushroom meadow. Go on, please."

"I—I found something!" grunted Mr. Twisttail. "Yes, I am sure I have found something."

"Is it Swiss cheese?" asked Uncle Butter, the goat. "I wish it could be Swiss cheese. Twisttail. For I haven't much left. I'll have to go back to my grocery store in Woodland to get more cheese. So if you have found some on this island—"

"No, Fat Butter," grunted the jolly fat pig. "I didn't find any Swiss cheese."

"Maybe he found 'Muddy Boots,' the mysterious cat," said Bosun.

"No, I didn't find 'Muddy Boots,' as you call the strange pussy who came to this island in a boat," Mr. Twisttail was wishing he had more mushrooms. He was very fond of them. "I didn't find any boots."

realized that anyone could have seen anything at all. She'd assumed that everybody would automatically be looking at Rudi Scherz. She must have held her breath outside the window and listened. Was it going to be all right? And then just as Miss Hinchliffe rushed off to the station Miss Murgatroyd got to a point which showed that she had stumbled on the truth. She called after Miss Hinchliffe: 'She wasn't there'."

"Now that's too subtle a point for me," said Craddock. Miss Marple turned her eager pink and white face to him.

"Just think what's going on in Miss Murgatroyd's mind. . . . One does see things, you know, and not know one sees them. In a railway accident once. I remember noticing a large blazer of point at the side of the carriage. And once, when there was a fly bomb in London, splinters of glass everywhere—and the shock—but what I remember best is a woman standing in front of me who had a big hole halfway up the leg of her stocking and the stockings didn't match. So when Miss Murgatroyd stopped thinking and just tried to remember what she saw, she remembered a good deal."

"She started. I think, near the mantelpiece where the torch must have hit first when it went along the two windows and there were people in between the windows and her. Mrs. Harmon with her knuckles acrossed into her eyes for instance, she went on in her mind following the torch past Miss Bunner with her mouth open and her eyes staring past a blank wall and a table with a lamp and a cigarette box."

"And then came the shots—and suddenly she remembered a most incredible thing. She'd seen the wall where, later, there were the two bullet holes in the wall where Letitia all at once. How extraordinary. Blacklock had been standing when she was shot, and at the moment when the revolver went off and Blacklock Letitia was shot. Letitia wasn't there."

"You see what I mean now?" She'd been thinking of the three women. But it wasn't a place that was in her mind—a place where someone should have been—but the place wasn't there. The place was there—but the person wasn't. And she couldn't take it in."

So that could only mean Letitia. . . . But you know before that didn't say? said Hunch. When the lamp faded. When you wrote down those things on the paper."

"Yes, my dear. It all came to me then. You see, and the various isolated bits and made a coherent picture."

Hunch quivered and said:

"Lamp? Yes. Yes. Yes. Mot-tle of spirit. You meant that Bunny had been going to buy a new bottle that day, and so the light-

not to have needed to take Leti-ta's?"

A's Balance Series With 8-6 Victory

Hedgecock Turns in Neat Relief Chord,
Surviving Shaky Start to Gain 8-6 Win

Victoria Athletics evened their series with Tri-City and broke their away-from-home losing streak at eight games last night as Jim Hedgecock turned in a neat relief chord to gain credit for an 8-6 win over the Braves.

The A's play the Braves again to-night with Jim Probst the likely starter and then move over to Salem to meet the Senators in three successive double-headers.

McCollum Loses

Lou McCollum, an old nemesis, took the loss as the A's racked him for 12 hits and all of their runs before he was driven to cover in the seventh. Ron Smith started for Victoria but was wounded out in the second inning after the Braves had reached him for seven hits and three runs. Hedgecock got away to a shaky start but wound up with five scoreless frames while his mates scored single runs in the sixth and seventh to break a 6-4 deadlock. It was his ninth win. He has lost eight. Junior Krug drove in the winning run in the sixth, smothering after Al Ronning had connected for the second of his three hits and moved up to third on a sacrifice shot by Bob McGuire.

Back in action after a two-game lay-off, Lou Novikoff had a double and single in five trips and scored two runs.

CONTINUE BATTLE

Meanwhile Tacoma and Yakima continued their battle for the W.L. lead, with Wenatchee Chiefs dropping game four further. The Bears, led by shortstop Dave Melton who had a triple, edged the Yakima Indians, 11-8. Even catcher Joe Munt took the mound in the ninth to stop the leaders, who hit safely in every inning.

Ron Gifford singled in the winning run in the ninth as the Tigers edged past Salem, 4-3. An error, Dick Greco's double and an

Marino Wins Over Allen In 15 Rounds

HONOLULU, Aug. 3 (AP)—Marino, Hawaii's main brown doll, won the world's flyweight title last night with a unanimous decision over Terry Allen of London in 15 rounds.

Marino, who waged an unrelenting campaign in the British Isles several years ago for the title, was the first American in 20 years to win the flyweight championship.

Both fought a hard battle and bled freely from cuts over their left eyes.

A total of 10,762 fans paid $42,473 to witness the fight at the Honolulu Convention Center.

Marino cut a deep gash under Allen's left eyebrow in the second round.

There were no knockdowns. Now that Marino is finally champion, his manager, Sam Ichinose, said the little Hawaiian is going "to sit tight and wait for offers."

The Sport Grill

by PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (INS)—Two or three years ago an American fan wrote in about a sensational swimmer he himself had clocked in world record time.

Since we never had heard of the swimmer we thought our pen must have made a mistake in his name and forgot about it.

The swimmer was Furuhashi and we recalled him later when the world began to stir up and take notice of his feats.

We have just received another letter from our friend discussing the chances of the American team now in Tokyo for a series of meets Friday, Saturday and Sunday. He writes:

GOOD AS EVER

Furuhashi is as good as ever. I think he will break Marshall's heart in the 1,500. He refers to John Marshall, Yale's Australian-born star who recently broke several world records.

"I believe Marshall may be a little faster sprinting but if he sticks to the 1,500 Furuhashi will beat him."

The Japanese No. 2 man, Hashizume, is skinnier than ever. He seems to have something the matter with him. Last year he had his appendix removed.

This year he has fungus in his ears and one of the kind-hearted American Army doctors is treating him.

"The No. 3 man, Tanaka, Furuhashi, Hashizume and Tanaka finished one-two-three in the 800 and 1,500 at Los Angeles last year. Apparently he is still washed up, although he is still only a freshman in college."

Tanaka either is burned out or has lost his ambition. But my own personal opinion is that he ruined his swimming by imitating Furuhashi's style.

WON'T TRAIN

"Tanaka used to have the smoothest stroke of all Japan and the possible exception of Maki. This Maki could be the greatest swimmer the world has seen but he won't because he won't train and he smokes and drinks."

The Japs have improved their backstroke and now have adopted the butterfly and so are making faster times.

Hashizume, their best sprinter, appears to be 30 pounds under weight. I think he is overtrained.

If Marshall wants to put the skin under Furuhashi he will have to take the 800 because Furuhashi thinks that is his best distance.

"All the meets will be in 50-metre pools generally in the late afternoon or evening."

The Japs would rather beat Marshall because he is an Australian than the Americans, and because the Aussies barred the Japs from the Olympics in Australia.

Last night letter written July 24, I clocked six heats of nine men each in the 400 metre and all of them were under five minutes. That will give you an idea how good these people are."

Well, there are the dope and this time we are not going to take our own word for it. However, we will think that Marshall and the other Japs from the States will more than hold their own.

Fleeting Fame

GENE BEARDEN

Hero of Cleveland's 1946 pennant drive, Bearden has failed to regain pitching form and was sold yesterday to Washington Senators for waiver price of $10,000. Bearden southpaw was in Washington uniform when clubs met at Cleveland last night.

(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (CP)—Uncle Mike Jacobs says that if Joe Louis can make a comeback, he can, too, and that he expects to be right in the fight against Charles in September.

Mike explains that when he retired because of serious illness a few years back he returned as a sort of afterthought, a second interest in any fight Louis might undertake in his declining years. Mike says he has a contract to prove it.

The International Boxing Corporation, which hopes to make the Louis-Charles fight a main event, says it has a contract with the old timer. A spokesman for the cartel said he was almost certain no such document existed.

"Would you," he was asked, "like to bet that if Mike says he has a contract, that he doesn't have one? Can you recall Mike having made any serious legal fumbles over the years?"

Well, no, when you put it that way, replied the spokesman thoughtfully. "All I say is that I can't imagine Uncle Mike handling the boxer sale personally—running up and down those steps the way he used to."

DIAMOND BLUES

New York writers, traveling with the Yankees report, in error that Joe DiMaggio is "faking like a sophomore" because of his removal from the clean-up spot in the batting order. Old Jawn Mize has been hitting fourth for the champions in most games since July 21.

No one denies that great player the right of his pride," comments Joe Trimble of The News, "but he is carrying things too far when he refuses to talk to the newspaper."

DiMaggio is the newspaper man who has been his friends for years and maintains a close silence toward all but a few of his teammates."

FLATBUSH GOSSIP

The Dodgers are caught in a switch on Rex Barney, the meteoric young man who hurled a no-hit game only two seasons ago.

He apparently has gone to pieces, his confidence shot along with his control. Of the last seven batters he has faced, six drew walks and the seventh hit a home run.

The National League champs are said to be ready to give him up, but if Branch Rickey finally makes the big decision he will have to let him go for the waiver price of $25,000 for the speedster less than two months ago.

Mrs. Hulke Wins

Mrs. Margaret Hulke captured the Rogers Trophy with a 2-1 victory over Mrs. Isabelle McIntyre at the George V Golf Club Sunday. Miss Nora O'Connell was winner of the hidden hole competition.

Golf... Here's How

By SAM BNEAD

Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Nearly every high handicap golfer wastes his time on a round by putting effort into short shots with highly lofted clubs. Such players are using almost nothing but their right wrists. Here's the way to play these shots: keep the left arm stretched out as though it were the spoke of a wheel. And, on these short shots, cook the wrist than you would in a full swing. Then swing the club through the ball with the left arm. Pour the hands and arms in as the ball is hit. The club's loft will lift the ball up giving you good flight and placement. Because of the strokes saved on this one kind of shot—and because he'll increase his two putt greens—a "100" shooter should knock five strokes off his game.

Remember When...

Ranlan Ben Hogan, shortly before his golfing career was bridged by an automobile accident, said in a letter to Oliver, of Seattle, Wash., two years ago to be in their 18-hole playoff for Western Open Golf Championship. Ben has since hit the comeback trail with sparkling tournament play.

Rham Singh, 230 Queens Avenue, was fined $75 or in default 30 days in jail by Magistrate H. G. Hall in city police court yesterday when found guilty on the seldomly used charge of permitting drunkenness on a premises.

Teams, Bands To Aid Show

A pipe band and two drill teams will be featured at the third annual Tuberous Begonia Show starting Friday at 8 p.m. in National Motors showroom on Yates Street.

Friday at 8 p.m. the Eagles' band and drill team will put on a demonstration outside the showroom for half an hour before the official opening.

On Saturday, the Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, under Pipe Major Nancy Chalmers, and the Chinese Girls' Drill Team, under Miss Mildred Yip, will put on two shows—at 3 and 8 p.m.

A draw will be held on Friday and Saturday nights at 7, 8, 9 and 10 p.m. and winners will be presented with begonias.

ONE FOR EACH DAY

Retiring Firemen Honored in Presentation at Headquarters

Three firemen, who saw Victoria Fire Department grow from small, horse-drawn wagon-equipped department into hard-hitting force it is today, were honored at retirement ceremony at headquarters yesterday. Above picture, taken just after presentation, shows Fireman Edward Roberts, 33 years' service; Fireman Edward Taylor, 37 years' service; Fire Chief Robert T. Brindley, Aid. Frank Mulliner and Fireman Hugh Lynn, 38 years' service. After Chief Brindley bade farewell to "three old comrades," Lynn wished good luck to all his fellow firemen he was leaving and said: "And may all your fires be little ones."

Oak Bay Will Consider Erecting Direction Signs

Oak Bay Council last night instructed municipal engineer A. S. G. Murgrove to make a report on the cost of erecting "city centre" directional signs on some of the municipality's main streets.

The suggestion was made by Councillor Fred A. Robinson who said he has been asked by several visitors how to reach the centre of town. Directional signs, he stated, should be erected to reduce inconvenience to strangers.

Council passed an amendment to

Blinkers Sent To Police; Not Delivered

A. Gibbs said the council is not considering raising Oak Bay's water rates. The Saanich figures were obtained merely for comparison purposes, he said.

"SALADA" ICED TEA

Two sunbathing girls and a complaining Meares Street resident have caused a mild furor among some of Victoria's citizens who believe in retaining their democratic rights.

The issue was topped off yesterday by a woman who sent to the city police station a pair of horse blinkers to be forwarded to the Meares Street man who doesn't like women sunbathing on the boulevard.

Police, however, didn't go along with the joke. They were in no position to carry out the woman's request.

The controversy started Sunday when the man complained to police there were two women lying on the boulevard improperly dressed. Because there is no law against committing such an act, police didn't order the girls off the boulevard.

Not wanting to cause any trouble, the girls said they would cease the practice.

Island's Coal Output To Be Cut by Tenth

Closure of White Rapids Mine at Nanaimo will cut Vancouver Island coal production by roughly 10 per cent, Mines Department officials said yesterday.

And as a result, Nanaimo lump coal will no longer be available at Victoria. Local dealers say White Rapids was the only mine in the Nanaimo area which produced lump coal, and stocks on hand are small.

Closure of the mine Friday came after months of negotiation between Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd. and union men. The company announced nearly a year ago that it was suffering an operating loss. There followed long and fruitless attempts between the company and the union to reach agreement on proposals for cutting operating costs.

Up to now Nanaimo district has been shipping roughly half of Vancouver Island coal. The remainder, from Cumberland mines and from Teale River, is shipped through Union Bay and its expected Island coal will still come to Victoria from this point.

South Wellington mine, employing 300 men, is the only large remaining mine in the Nanaimo area. There have been reports that it too may close within the next year.

Island coal production has been running from 50,000 to 55,000 tons a month this year, but demand is poor, according to mines officials, because of high cost in relation to quality.

Fire Marshal Halts Dumping of Sawdust

VIEW ROYAL, Aug. 2.—A. E. Bessley, fire marshal for View Royal, has stopped further dumping of sawdust on about three acres of low-lying land adjoining Helmecken Avenue as it is considered a potential fire hazard.

Residents in the area immediately along the avenue state the sawdust was a surplus product of the sawmills and was unsaleable and was being dumped through permission of the owner of the property who intended ploughing it in to assist in raising the level of the land.

Plan Approved For Abolition Of School Tax

COBBLE HILL, Aug. 2.—Directors of the Shewan-Cobble Hill Farmers' Institute and the executive committee of the South Cowichan Taxpayers' Association, met recently to consider the plan that the B.C. Federation of Agriculture has prepared in an effort to secure abolition of the school tax on land and improvements.

The B.C.F.A. plans wide distribution of a questionnaire, answers to which are designed to show that the present school tax is an unjust levy and the burden of the tax is unfairly distributed.

The B.C.F.A. will place the answers before members of the Legislative Assembly throughout the province and the Provincial Cabinet. The meeting unanimously agreed that the plan was a good one, and if it was supported by the ratepayers of the province, would result in repeal of the present school tax. The meeting will secure immediately data called for in the questionnaire.

Richard Brown presided over the meeting, and present were: Miss M. McRae, J. W. Ashman, R. E. Bewell, G. E. Bonner, S. D. Douglas, J. S. T. Fall, C. A. Giessen, A. G. B. Lewis, C. B. Meredith, A. T. Motherwell, R. B. Moulton and S. Wallace.

Motorists Pay Fines in Duncan

DUNCAN, Aug. 2.—James F. Wong was fined $10 and costs on each of two traffic charges in police court today. He was arrested by Constable K. A. Attree for driving without a valid licence and failing to stop at a stop sign.

Magistrate G. A. Tisdall also fined George Vaux $5 and costs for driving through a stop sign. Keith Shadforth, Lake Cowichan, paid a fine of $15 and costs for driving without a licence. Gregor Zimmerman was fined $20 and costs for overloading his vehicle. Lee McEachern paid a $15 fine and costs for driving without a licence and William E. Pearson, Nanaimo, was fined $20 and costs for exceeding the speed limit in the city of Duncan.

Cows Judged For Calf Club

COBBLE HILL, Aug. 2.—Members of the Cobble Hill Calf Club met recently at the home of B. Pickering where a class of Jersey cows and calves were judged, with J. D. Hazlett, district agriculturalist, placing.

Later four senior members journeyed to the farm of L. H. Margrett, Duncan, to take part in instruction. Mr. Hazlett placed a class of Holstein cows, and members then gave their reasons orally for the placing. Oral work is one of the strong competitive points at the P.N.E., to which a team will go from the Cobble Hill Club to take part in the contests.

More Men Join Battle Against Fire

Another 50 men have been thrown into the battle against a 400-acre forest fire, 15 miles southwest of Kelsey Bay in the Campbell River district, the B.C. Forest Service reported yesterday.

Tuesday the fire at Bloedel, Stewart & Welch's Camp Five was reported under control, but strong northwest winds caused a flare-up.

A small new fire was reported on Cortes Island, but it was reported well under control, as were four other fires in the Vancouver forest district.

Over the Province as a whole, 245 men are fighting 44 fires. Forest Service officials said the hazard was moderate to high.

Resort Bought At Parksville By Californian

PARKSVILLE, Aug. 2.—Beach Acres, noted seaside resort, was purchased recently by an American resort operator from California, it was announced in Victoria yesterday.

David Charters, former owner, sold the property to Guido Benasini for a reported $45,000.

The holiday resort, which now has a ten-room guest house and cabins on the 40-acre property, will be expanded to make room for additional tourist accommodation, according to the new owner.

He plans to specialize in American and Italian foods.

K. R. Liss and J. M. Chisman of Pemberton, Holmes, Limited, Victoria, were agents for the sale.

Seattle Woman Dies in Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Aug. 2.—Mrs. Marie Gahnberg, 64, died here suddenly early today. Accompanied by her husband, Gustave Gahnberg, they registered at a local auto court on Tuesday night on a holiday trip from their home in Seattle.

Mrs. Gahnberg suffered two attacks and died a few hours later. Her husband stated she had suffered from cardiac trouble for seven years.

Coroner W. H. Jones has ordered an autopsy.

Duncan Fair Promises To Be Biggest So Far

DUNCAN, Aug. 2.—The Fall Fair at Duncan on September 7, 8 and 9 promises to be the biggest the Cowichan Valley has seen since the fair's inception in 1907.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m. on September 7 at the Agricultural Hall Grounds, the fair will get under way with a show by trapeze and high-wire artists. They will be followed by the Victoria Motorcycle Club at 8:30 with a demonstration of trick and club riding for two hours.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Friday, September 8 will be children's day at the fair, which officials hope this year to make into a Class B attraction. Livestock will be judged on Friday and the Elks will run children's sports.

On Saturday the horse show will begin at 10 a.m. and continue all day and at 8 p.m. the loggers' sports will be held, with competitors from all over the Island taking part in power-sawing, hand-sawing and chopping. All loggers' events will be mounted on mobile units for speedier handling. After the sports a dance will be held in the hall.

Several new exhibits will be viewed this year, among them local oil paintings. It is hoped that entries will be plentiful, contributing as they do to the prize list which determines the class rating of fairs.

Exhibition officials hope to house the show in permanent buildings

Parksville Dances Proving Popular

PARKSVILLE, Aug. 2.—Saturday night dances from 9 to 12 seem to be quite popular in Parksville and will be repeated on August 5 and probably right through this month. They are sponsored by the Parksville Community Society and the Parksville Playmates orchestra supplies the music.

Plans are now complete for the Alley Oop contest and comic strip masquerade on August 16 and entries are coming in for this big event.

Among future plans of the society is a dance scheduled to take place at midnight Sunday, September 3, when Evan Kemp and his orchestra of Vancouver will make an appearance here.

Fire Razes House In Alberni Area

ALBERNI, Aug. 2.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Littleton on Sprout Lake Road, was completely gutted by fire between 5 and 6 p.m. Monday. Only sign left of the home is a standing chimney. There was no one at home when the fire broke out and what caused it is a mystery. The house was built about two years ago by Mr. Littleton, who is employed by the Provincial Government Forestry Department.

Pearkes Criticizes Coastal Defences

COBBLE HILL, Aug. 2.—Asking the good work done by the Navy in getting the three destroyers ready for tropical service in such a short time, he strongly criticized the Government not taking any action on the Korean matter, when troops were so sorely needed.

Election of officers resulted in the same slate being returned by acclamation, namely: Col. A. G. B. Lewis, president; Mr. B. Black, vice-president; Mrs. H. T. Stanley, secretary-treasurer; with P. Wolf, S. Wallace, William Bell, E. Bammer, Mrs. R. Y. Calderwood, Mrs. A. G. B. Lewis and Mrs. A. Sutton on the executive committee. Mrs. R. Y. Calderwood was elected delegate to the convention in Vancouver in October.

General Pearkes explained work done in the last session of Parliament, which he described as "not spectacular." He spoke of the huge amount of committee work done. One of the committees of which he was a member, was the defence committee, and he described the work in unifying the three armed forces.

He also told how every department had expanded, with a corresponding increase of expenses. The situation in Korea was also discussed. General Pearkes praised
